Dear Readers...

Visit KFRI Digital Herbarium

The herbarium is a storehouse of mounted specimens arranged according to a known system of classification. KFRI herbarium was started in early 1980s with regular field collections of specimens. Now it holds over 10306 specimens and recognized internationally by the acronym KFRI by the International Association of Plant Taxonomists (IAPT). Apart from general collections, KFRI-herbarium has a complete collection of medicinal plants in South India and a pan Indian collection of palms and bamboos of India including Andaman and Nicobar Islands. The species in the herbaria are indexed in alphabetical order with collection numbers under respective plant families. The families are arranged according to the system of classification of flowering plants by Bentham and Hooker with delimitation to certain families in accordance with their current concepts. The 10306 specimens representing more than 2040 species from 203 families.

Readers, especially researchers please use this digital herbarium <http://www.kfriherbarium.org/> for your ready reference.
Conserve our nature..... Helps our future....
